

New York, Aug. 22

Dear Joe :

I am back in New York, and here are the final chapters of the book for your perusal. My apologies for the carbons of four of the chapters, as there has been no time to do Xerox copies of them; they are uncorrected, I'm afraid.

The pages from El Diario are returned with thanks.

I enclose a clipping from Die Welt, which I thought you might find interesting. I don't need it back, as I have made a copy of it.

I'll keep you informed on the fate of the manuscript, as far as hardcover and foreign publication are concerned.

Thanks again!
